Now only do I know you,
O fair auroral skies — O morning dew upon the grass!

And these I see, these sparkling eyes,
These stores of mystic meaning, these young
lives,

Building, equipping like a fleet of ships,
immortal ships,

Soon to sail out over the measureless seas,
On the soul's voyage.

Only a lot of boys and girls?

Only the tiresome spelling, writing, ciphering classes?

Only a public school?

Ah more, infinitely more;

(As George Fox rais'd his warning cry, "Is it this pile of brick and mortar, these dead floors, windows, rails, you call the church?

Why this is not the church at all — the church is living, ever living souls.")

And you America,

Cast you the real reckoning for your present?
The lights and shadows of your future, good or evil?

To girlhood, boyhood look, the teacher and the school.

Walt. Whitman.
